Keystone Junior College
La Plume, Pennsylvania

The Bitners relax at home.

What is respect? Certainly defined it is "a recognition and proper honoring of the worth of someone," an honor bestowed upon few.

Mrs. George H. Bitner earned the respect of both students and faculty at Keystone Junior College during her 16 years of dedicated teaching. Not only concerned with the teaching of English, the grande dame of the campus served as both Dean of Women and college marshal during her earlier years.

To those fortunate enough to have known her, she was a trusting friend and a sensitive counselor. Proficient in teaching, dedicated in living, and gracious in giving, Mrs. Bitner will never be forgotten at Keystone.

It is with utmost respect and admiration that we of the Nokomian dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. George H. Bitner, a genteel individual.

Mrs. Bitner received the "Distinguished Service to Keystone" award in May, 1971, from KJC Alumni Association President William A. Smith.

Knowledge is proud that he has learned so much;
Wisdom is humble that he knows no more.
William Cowper

The 1972 edition of the Keystone Nokomian takes as a basis for its theme the memories of words. Curious momentos of expression, words and their memories have a unique affect upon each individual.

While at KJC, students face experiences and afterwards the memories may be recalled by a song, poem, or even a television commercial. Basically, all composed of words. How do you think a cliché is born; repeated usage mellowed by age.

Therefore, flip through these pages and reconstruct your own memories with our words. Your college life is in itself one word — exciting!

Verbal Idiosyncrasies

"Society is not man's best friend."

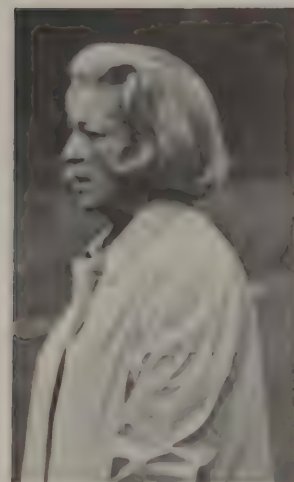

"Economics is not my bag!"

"Can you dig it?"

"... as you like"

"After that article I read, I've put down on my cigarette smoking."

"Since I didn't prepare a lecture today ..."

"I want to see it DO something!"

Flashing a smile, stroking the hair, chewing on erasers — these are all affects (yes) that make individuals unique. In addition, certain phrases may be used time and time again, which may be recalled (GM does it enough) whenever that person comes to mind.

Our KJC faculty are no exception. For instance

"Now that's a good idea — beautiful!"

"Take out a piece of paper"

"because of A. B. & C."

"Your answer has nothing to do with my question."

"If you don't know, that's your tough luck."

"Can you feel the beat — pull out the pen."

"You'd better jolly well believe."

"Let me tell you a story"

"It seems to me"

"All you kids do is sit around and take the fluff out of your navels."

"Now you can be a much better student if"

"At any rate."

Helen T. Banigan, Former Secretary to the President.

"He wants to be a school!"

Robert O'Connor, Bookstore Manager

John J. Smith, Director of Data Processing Center.

Ann Rockwell, Present Secretary to the President

Susan R. Hunter, Director of Alumni Relations.

Wear it again, Sam!

John Spence, Food Service Manager

Elizabeth Holdeman, Administrative Assistant, Library.

Leon R. Stencel, Superintendent, Buildings and Grounds.

Virginia Neuffer, secretary to the student deans

Staff

Helen Conklin, receptionist for the president

Mary Davis, secretary to the president's assistant

"Staff" \staf\ n, pl staffs or staves — a long stick carried in the hand for support in walking. That is the definition that best fits the personnel here at Keystone. Why? Because these men and women are instrumental in the process of our growth at Keystone; they support us in our walk through two years. A generous handful, the staff is always around to help us out of sticky messes, give needed advice, or just be on hand to care enough.

Mr. Bob Davis, assistant to the business manager.

Lois Lowry, counseling assistant

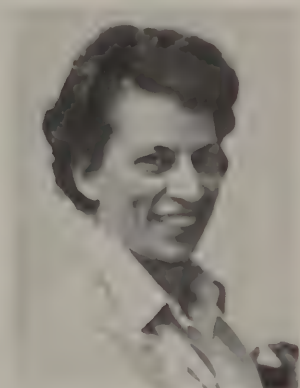

Elizabeth Rees, faculty secretary

Joan Brown, development and informational services

Mary Bowen, office services

Another trophy for KJC

W r e s t l i n g

If Coach Fornicola had been asked at the beginning of the semester what the prospect for the 1971-72 wrestling team was, "promising" may have been his only comment. But now that the season is over, "outstanding" and "memorable" are most appropriate feelings — both for the men's effort and spirit and also for the team's victories.

Varsity wrestlers included Charles Alley, Barron Auliso, Patrick Bagley, Richard Dixon, Patrick Fenton, Kevin Freck, Steven Grant, William Kametz, Gary Koerner, Joseph Lodge, Kent Mackallunas, Stephen Miller, Daniel Noble, William Phillips, Kenneth Root, Jeffrey Runge, George Sopko.

Maryland and the regional tournament have a special connotation for the Little Giants. Bill Kametz and Chuck Alley placed first at the regional tourney and Rick Dixon placed second for his weight class at the Maryland collegiate wrestling meet.

Since KJC did so well at the regionals, three members from the team, Bill Kametz, Chuck Alley, and Rick Dixon went to the national wrestling tourney for junior colleges and two-year institutions in Minnesota. Chuck, at 167 pounds, came in fourth while Bill, at 142, was decided by a 4-0 score which halted his chance for a title. Rick suffered arm injuries which kept him on the bench. Overall, KJC's team came in 15th out of approximately 70 schools represented.

Out of the varsity games played — 15 in all — it seems that 15 was the magic number for the Little Giants — 9 wins and 6 losses.

Co-captains for this year's team were Pat Bagley and Pat Fenton.

The team voted on the most outstanding wrestler. This year it went to Bill Kametz for his fine and consistent performance throughout the season.

Coach Fornicola approaches each new wrestling team with "optimistic pessimism." Each team has its particular characteristics and this year's is no exception. Most of the players contributed a great deal of time and effort which pulled the team together. But above and beyond this, is the spirit and dedication the Little Giants have for the sport itself which makes Coach Fornicola's wrestling team victorious and very outstanding.

Coach Fornicola, Kal Hadden, and Matt Fornicola see it all.

Girls' Field Hockey

Kathy Powers battles it out with opponent.

The girls ended the short season with 4 wins and 3 losses. Women's field hockey promised and succeeded in being a good sport for the players and fans. To quote Miss Marge Philbin, the coach: "The girls are the greatest!"

Teamwise — there were 12 seniors who had played last year as well and 10 talented freshmen (so there, Gloria!). Last year, playing as a club, the hockey squad won three of its four games and earned varsity status for the sport this year.

Could the new uniforms have had anything to do with it? The heather-swishing kilts certainly added to the game's appeal. Toughness mixed with femininity — the key qualities to keep in mind when describing our competent fem-hockey team.

Coach Strong said this: "I am very happy the way that our defense is coming. We now have the defensive average down to 77.6. If we can keep this up, we will continue in the right path." Good words of prophesy — in every game the Giants showed determination and hustle by out-rebounding their opponents and by forcing them into embarrassing turnovers.

With less speed and more height this year, the cagers sparked a tremendous effort and ended with a 9-11 record. Super averages, foes, rebounds, tourneys, hoops, time out — these are all memories of action to the KJC cagers and their ever loyal fans!

This was an outstanding year for baseball — 8 wins and 5 losses.

Three excellent batters should come to mind for their achievements: Mike Smirne ended the season with a .366, Mike Mooney with a .355, and Bob Swartz with a fine .308.

A commendable record was established by the pitching staff achieving a 2.16 E.R.A. John Pendrak equalled a school record by winning 4 games. John Jaczynski established an individual E.R.A. record of 0.90.

Bob Swartz and Mike Smirne were the co-captains. Butch Talada was the manager.

Little Giants — how did the baseball team get that name? Could it be that the team is limited in size but brutal in strength? Or by a quirk of nature that the players are giants in stature but little compared to the coach? What is the reason?

No official explanation is listed on a wall in Brooks Gym, however, each team member, game official, and fan carries with him (her) a special definition that fits the name, Little Giants. Possibly it takes LITTLE effort to be GIANTS on the baseball field!

Maybe but that's the way these things go — some years you have it and others you don't. Don't club your neighbor — maybe next year you'll make the Indy 500 — or is it the Stanley Cup playoffs

"Do you think if the kid played we would have won?"

The Keystone Vets played baseball against the WARM Softball Softies. The radio-disk nuckys were just a hair better than our veterans — they beat us 5 to 4.

The Vets really scored, though, two days later when they presented Mr. Donald Tappin, Campus Center director and advisor to their club, with a plaque which reads —

F. Donald Tappin
THANK YOU FOR ALL YOUR HELP AND GUIDANCE AND MOST OF ALL

Orientation

September comes all too quickly, and when it does a new batch of Keystone freshmen are soon to follow. Each year provisions are made to enable the "inductees" to become familiar with life on the campus.

The orientation might be in the form of a library tour, get-acquainted dance, or an informal chat with the faculty and administration. The result — one big, happy, know-it-all family!

"I can't believe I ate the whole thing."

Aiming for a star is not just a hackneyed expression at Keystone. This year the college did something about it by purchasing a complete observatory. The kit includes a 16 foot dome, 3,400 pound telescope, and a tracking station.

The star-gazer was purchased from a star-personality, Dave Garroway. He is the creator of the "Today Show" television series.

Cost — a good buy at $5,900. Location — yet to be determined due to technical necessities. Use — by students at Keystone, the public, and students at neighboring colleges.

Homecoming — a chance to rekindle old flames, seek out former profs, settle old debts, and make lifelong friendships. Each year it's the same, but the new faces and shared experiences lend a hand in making each homecoming unique.

This year was certainly no exception. Those who came "home" carried away a multitude of memories.

Game Officials Glover, Thurston, Cormier.

The soccer team lost to C.C. of Morris, 4-0.

The girls beat Misericordia, 2-1.

Every year, the Factoryville Men's and Women's Clubs sponsor a blood drive. This year the end results were vein-popping! A total of 162 pints of blood were donated by students (the editor's first time), faculty, and local citizens. Campus donations included 12 faculty and administration members in addition to 59 students. Forty-three of the 59 students were first-time donors.

Underlying the obvious reason for annual blood drives, this year donations were being given for Dale Mack, a Keystone freshman who had recently suffered severe injuries in an automobile accident. He had undergone extensive facial surgery and desperately needed blood to survive. Dale is resting comfortably now, although tragically he may never be able to see again. This past summer he attended the Greater Pittsburgh Guild for the Blind and took a basic mobility course. Due to his faith, courage, and strength — Dale plans to further his college career this year.

Links of communication were welded tighter this year at Keystone by two experimental events.

1) Harlem Preparatory School, which has achieved success in salvaging high school dropouts, sent four of its students to LaPlume to consider it as a possibility for their next step in education. The response was good.

"One small step for the students, one giant leap for Keystone."

2) On April 21, the drama students had an opportunity to hear Jules Irving speak to them about Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" via telephone. Jules Irving, by the way, is the artistic director of the repertory theater in Lincoln Center.

Amplification gear was set up — Dr. Miller was on hand to say a few words to Irving — the theater was packed — and "Ma Bell" did it again ... the phone amplifier conked out.

Not daunted in the least, Mr. Winterstein talked to Jules and later told the audience what was said.

In either case (1) or (2) an attempt was made at bridging the involvement gap.

A monument in the Valley of the Fallen.

Another unique first was arranged by Keystone this year. March 23 was the departure date for eight K.J.C. students, one teacher, one high school student, and three Keystone staff members to head for Spain.

Madrid was the home base, although the entourage visited the Alcazar, a famous 14th century castle in Segovia where Queen Isabella was coronated; the Valley of the Fallen (Arches?) at El Escorial, dedicated by Franco to those who died there during the Civil War.

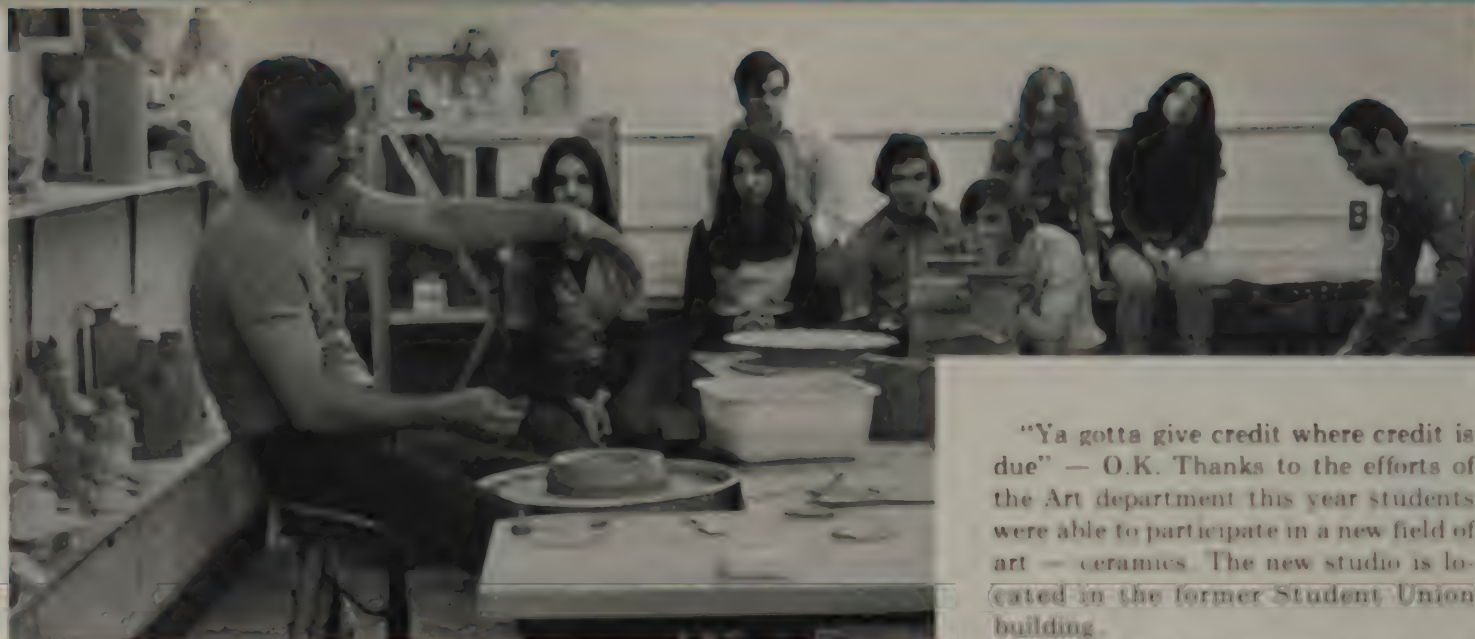

Other places of interest included the Prado Museum, the Royal Palace and the University of Madrid.

Truly an experience of a lifetime!

Can't beat the selection offered in this marketplace!

"Fergie" demonstrates his techniques to ceramics class.

"Ya gotta give credit where credit is due" — O.K. Thanks to the efforts of the Art department this year students were able to participate in a new field of art — ceramics. The new studio is located in the former Student Union building.

Taught by Mr. Tersteeg, a qualified ceramist in his own right, the course offered students a chance to delve into the world of clay.

Tim Sterian puts some finishing touches on the kiln.

Hip! Hip! to Mr. Karl Neuroth, K.J.C. instructor in art, for winning the F. Lammont Belin Arts Scholarship this year. The award aids outstanding talent in the field of fine arts. He plans to use the grant to develop and explore his special interest in graphics.

John Greenall, Keystone student artist, has done something nice for the college. He contributed his time and talent to the construction of a stained glass window for the Keystone Chapel. Even though it's only his first attempt — beautiful, John!

Bless you

Student-Inspired

April 14 debut "A Matter of Importance"

FROM LEFT, FRONT: Marilyn Murphy, Sharon Rawlin, Diane Sabatini, Barbara Stenhouse, Sharon Levin. SECOND: Bob Rayner, Mary Ellen Murtough. REAR: Joe Schneider, Tom Zeller, Gretchen Luddens, Stephanie Mitchell, Mike Swartz.

Joe Schneider, boy playwright, has struck it rich. He not only wrote and produced his own play, but he was given the Sol Davidson Award for having done so.

The KJC senior presented on stage, "A Matter of Importance", a play dealing with a college student ensnared in his own familial relationships. He begins to search for life's purpose.

Joe hopes that through his presentation money will soon be allocated for more student productions.

Here's a list of the year's productions:

"Thieves' Carnival"
 "Brecht on Brecht"
 "Blood Wedding"
 "Cinderella"
 "The Enchanted"
 "A Matter of Importance"

Another student-inspired production was Sally Peter's "Cinderella", the college dance club's version.

Sally, a second-year drama student, was the choreographer, director, and costumer for the show.

The production was so popular that repeat performances were demanded. The show was put on for grade school students as well as the general public.

Cast included Linda Pirino as Cinderella, Jerry Creedon as her Prince Charming, Berni Andreole played the stepmother, and Barb Hermann and Janet Davis were the stepsisters. Arlene Siegel was the fairy godmother.

The magical mice were Terry Voelz, Patti Long, Mary Folkemer, Janet Gubichuk, Barbara Banzhaf, and Barb Stevens.

In the ballroom scene were Peggy Cole, Deborah Jani, Sue Heller, Sam DeVita, Bradley Shaffer, Greg Duff, Joe Schneider, and Steve Antosh.

Colonel Sanders couldn't top this Spring Weekend, held April 28 this year, topped all records — as far as diversionary efforts are concerned: White Beauty View, Lake Wallenpaupack — a romantic get-away nestled on the edges of a serene lake; "Ralph" — no, not the local bodyguard, but a popular rock group; golf, tennis, horseback riding, boating, softball, plane tours of the area; sumptuous Italian buffet dining; "The Red Garter" — Time magazine did a story on these string-plucking musicians; plus****all the free time you wanted to do other "enjoyable" things.

Financially, the debit column screamed the loudest, but we guess Rome wasn't built in a day. Once the word gets around that Spring Weekend is fun, well, maybe next year we'll break even!

"A loaf of bread, a jug of wine, and thou."

Career And Transfer Days

When it rains, it pours high school students, but we were ready for them

May 2 was the day for the 36th annual Career Day Forum, offered for the benefit of local high school students. This year, Keystone shared the spotlight with Johnson School of Technology to give equal billing to the semiprofessionals. Professional careers represented included medicine, nursing, pharmacy, engineering, and teaching.

Well, it was our turn at some type of Career Forum known as Transfer Day. April 6 saw 104 school representatives on campus. It enables students to become acquainted with admission requirements, financial aids and/or any other pertinent information about that particular college.

It's worth it, too. Many students aren't sure of their destination after Keystone and it helps to sit and chat with the school reps. Who knows, it just might be the start of a new career.

Both the cars and these tents symbolize the annual Keystone Spring Fair and Reunion. This year's event included a film festival, awards dinner, rock concert, Tom's Chorus concert, art exhibits, soccer and baseball games, and an antique car show.

This year's specialty was the film festival, which ran for a week prior to the fair on May 13. Great cinema classics were screened daily and nightly; Ingmar Bergman and Charles Chaplin were the front runners with the film buffs.

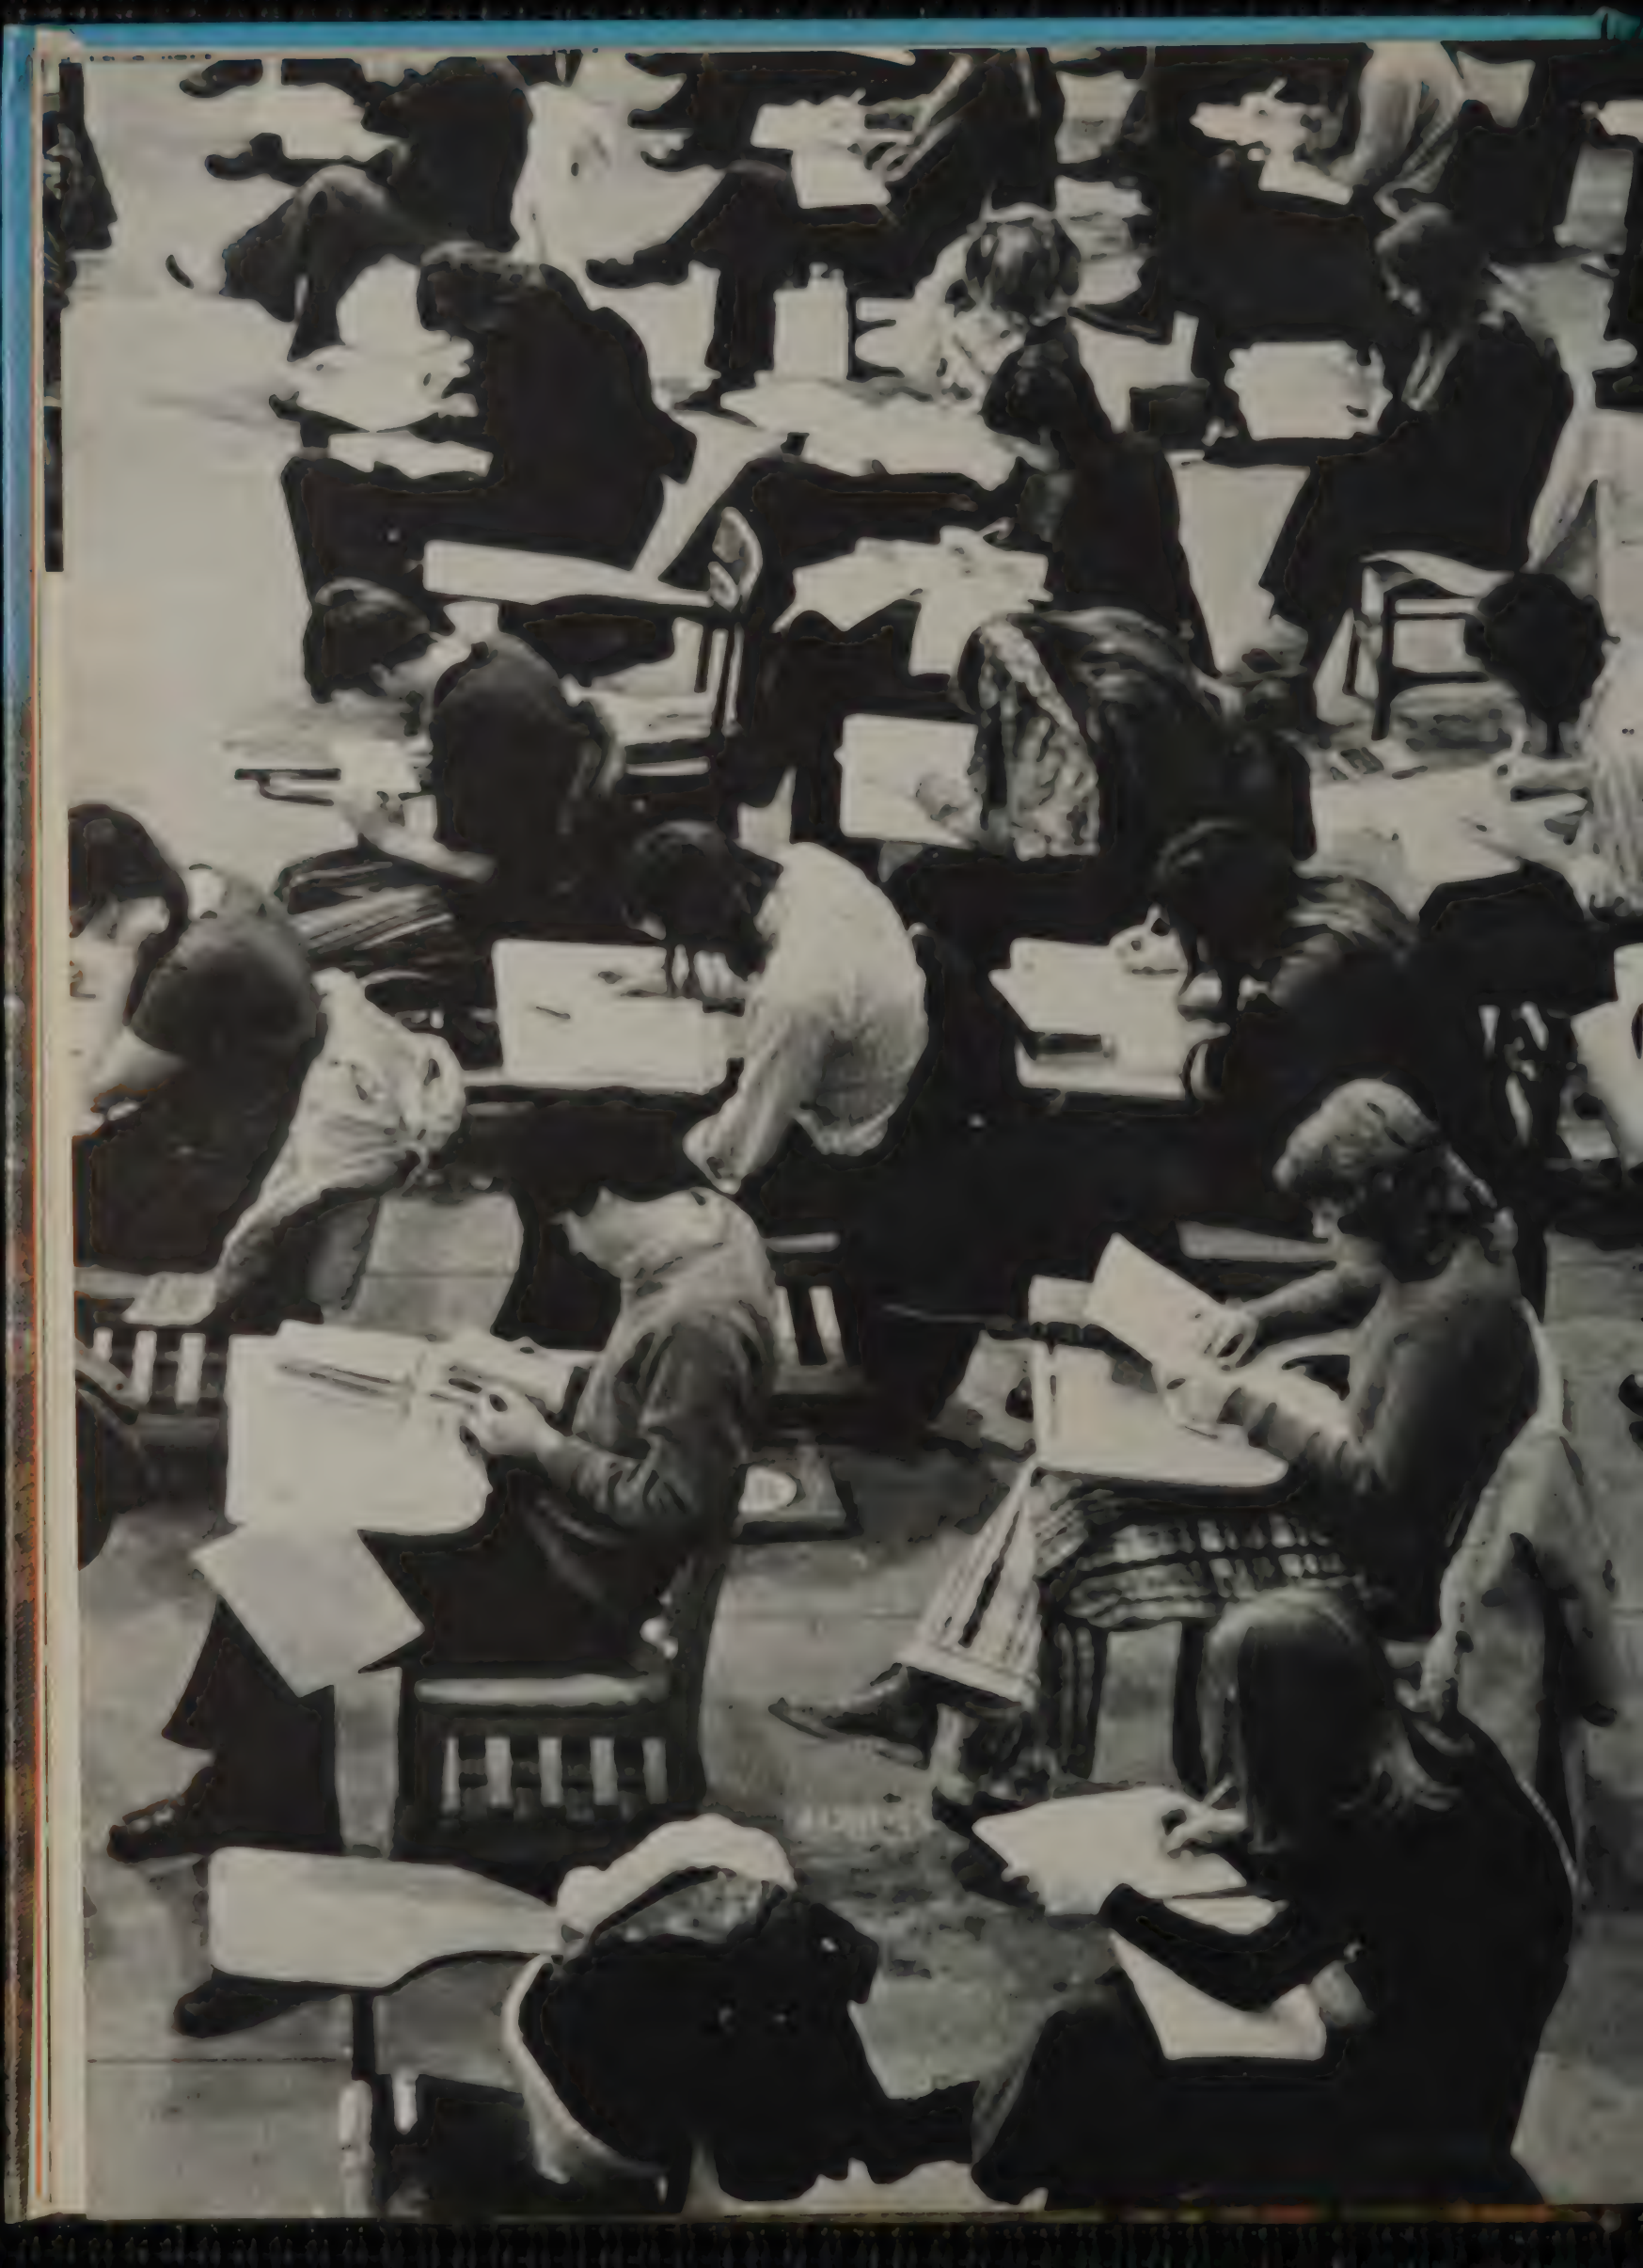

And of course there was the antique show — a myriad of cars symbolizing a bygone era.

Two days before the Spring Fair, the 4th annual KJC Speech Contest was held. The front campus provided the setting for both the humorous and serious student speeches.

Topper Van Backer won first prize for his serious speech and John White won the top award in the humorous category.

Suppose Keystone were an island — a land mass isolated by water. The Day Hops would approach by boat, the Dormies would stay in residence halls. To approach the education, students must cross the Valley of Anxiety, a polluted Stream of Consciousness, conquer the Misconception Zombies, and stalk the rare Open Minded Lion.

Silly? Not really. True, Keystone is not an island — it is an integrated part of the community. But our two years at Keystone have been a somewhat isolated time of learning, seeking, and growing.

Notice that the goal is education, not the campus or the buildings. Certainly, to reach that guarded monarch one does face all of the mentioned challenges.

So look on your two years at Keystone as a safari. Your experiences in college have brought you the game trophy of educational enlightenment.
